Salt Lake Backstop Breaks Bat on Third Attempt to Kill the Ball.

Intermountain League.

Bert Whaling, the big league catcher of the Salt Lake team, was the "whalin" kid" In the game yesterday at Walker's field. Two home runs the first two times up, a "busted" bat the third time up and a sacrifice the last time he faced the pitcher is his record, and the oldest ina sacrifice the last time he faced the pitcher is his record, and the oldest inhabitant is respectfully requested to come forward with a larger line of batting if he can renember it. The Miners could not be expected to win in the face of such odds and gracefully retired with a score of $ to 4 against them.

Whaling came up first in the second inning and, after sizing McAdams up, he hit the ball to the trees in center field. Whaling, who does not wear any medals as a sprinter, was over the plate before the ball reached the infield via the relay route. In the third inning Whaling came up again, but Osburn was in the box this time. The crowd yelled for a homer and Nehring, on first, turned and yelled to the west bleachers that "he would be in luck to hit a foul." Hardly had the words gone from his mouth than Whaling hit the ball a clout that carried it clear of the left field fence, and Bert slowly circled the bases for the second home run. In the fourth the logal backstop stepped up again and swung on the ball for the third time in the game. It was a mighty hard swipe and broke his bat, Whaling going out at first, His last time up was a neat sacrifice and the sum total is just about a record in the hitting line in this neck of the woods. The whole Sait Lake team had its batting eye working yesterday and two Butte pitchers were sent to the woods. ting eye working yesterday and two Butte pitchers were sent to the woods. McAdams was clouted out of the box in McAdams was clouted out of the box in the second inning. Osburn lasted until the end of the fourth, and White, a new recruit, finished the game. Goodman broke into the limelight with his hitting and fielding. His one-handed catch of Dunn's fly against the fence in left was a feature. In the hitting line he pulled down one three-sacker and three singles out of five times up,

The game was never in danger from the start. Although Butte did the better fielding of the two, her pitchers did not class with "High Pocket" Hunt, who was in the best form he has been this season. Butte's single error was a failure to stop a thrown ball to second to head off a steal. The score:

More Ball Games for Salt Lake

Salt Lake baseball fans are to have another week of baseball that is not given them in the original schedule. For this they can thank the ponies. When the schedule was made out the league scheduled more games away from Salt Lake than it would have done had it not been for the races at the fair grounds. When it was announced the meeting had been called off, the magnates got busy at once and as a result Butte will remain here for another week and Boise will go to Helena to play the Senators. It was intended to have Salt Lake play Helena at Helena the coming week and Boise to meet Butte at Butte.

The change is all in Salt Lake's favor, as it gives this team more games on its home grounds with a better chance of reaching the lead in the percentage column. Salt Lake meets Butte today with either Annis or Hali in the box, while Marshall, Butte's crack twirler, is slated to pitch for
